A CEDARVILLE COLLEGE AVISO

Vol. IV Issue 1

Summer '90

Congratulations, Graduates!

Duane Priddy and Jennifer Chon celebrate.

David Holt said "thumbs up" on graduation!

Cedarville College graduated 402 students at the 94th Commencement.

The college family shared the joy of Andrea Gerstner and her mother. Money was raised for Mrs. Gerstner to travel from Hungary for the occasion.

A standing ovation was given to Mark Bishop as he received his diploma.

It's Time to Select Your New Alumni Council Members!

Article V of the Cedarville College Alumni Association Constitution states that elections shall be conducted by mail balloting for four-year terms with at least two vacancies being filled in rotation every year.

Candidates for 1991-1995 Term

Yvonna (Cope '73) McGhee, and her husband, Rev. Richard McGhee '75, live in Brownsburg, Indiana, where Yvonna is active in her husband's ministry at Bethesda Baptist Church.

As a student Yvonna sang with the Gospel Echo Trio and traveled with Summer Swordbearers. She was crowned homecoming queen her senior year. She spent a few years after graduation working in the Christian ministries department as a secretary.

Yvonna assists her husband with the college and career ministry at church as well as home schooling their two children, Ryan and Hannah.

Mike Hamilton '68 and his wife Carol (Simonetti '68) live in Kettering, Ohio, where Mike is a District Manager for ESKCO, Inc.

Mike and Carol have four children. The family attends Washington Heights Baptist Church where Mike is active on the deacon board and with the Sunday School program.

Stefanie Pratt '85 graduated with a degree in English. She is employed by Wright-Patterson Air Force Base and manages an administrative office for base supplies.

As a student, Stefanie traveled with the Master's Puppets and appeared in several drama productions including The Diary of Anne Frank, in which she played the role of Mrs. Van Daan.

Stefanie currently lives in Dayton where she is actively involved with the youth group at her home church, Washington Heights Baptist Church.

Sarah (Stone '74) Rogers and her husband, Rex '74, live in Briarcliff Manor, New York, where Sarah is active in many volunteer capacities and taking care of her four children.

After graduation Sarah utilized her B.A. in Social Science by teaching in several Christian high schools throughout Ohio and West Virginia. While her husband taught at Cedarville College, Sarah became involved in Cedarville's Women's Fellowship and was elected president for two years.

Sarah is currently president of The King's College Women's Fellowship and conducts several discipling groups at King's, where her husband is academic vice-president.

Please send ballot to the Alumni Office, P.O. Box 601, Cedarville, OH 45314.

Election Ballot

Please vote for two candidates. If two alumni live in the same household you both may register votes on this ballot.

The Gift

by Doug Moore '90

After finding my dorm, lugging boxes, and overcoming fears on that first day of college, I found a gift placed carefully on the desk in my room. It was blue and looked very much like a rock at the bottom of my older brother's aquarium. I picked up this blue object and realized that it was a miniature replica of the legendary rock of Cedarville. Little did I know my best memories of the next four years would be found in the words painted on the rock — "The 'Ville."

V=Vast assortment of Christian ministries for my involvement and growth

I believe that Christian Ministries is the program at Cedarville with the greatest potential to change lives both on campus and in the community. Cedarville now has over 100 different ministries to choose from. All of these ministries are crucial because they provided a way for me to put my faith into action instead of apathy. My ministry on the puppet team and at the Dayton Mental Health Center (DMHC) challenged my actions and thoughts as well as providing irreplaceable benefits. I will always remember children laughing at Bubba (our blue-headed buddy from the puppet room) and the clients on Ward 51 at DMHC who found great pleasure in beating me at the game of Concentration.

I=Insight into life

One valuable insight came from a lady on Ward 55 at DMHC. When I asked her why she was always so happy, she replied "Because I never walk alone." What a tremendous promise that we as Christians can claim. We have the living Holy Spirit who promised never to leave us nor forsake us (Hebrews 13:5). As Christians, we can rest assured that we will never have to walk alone. I have learned that insights can be gleaned in and out of the classroom.

L=Lasting friendships

Nothing can replace the friendships that I have developed with people here on campus. My friendships multiply my joys and divide my griefs.

L=Lifelong companion

On September 15 I will put a wedding band on the hand of my best friend. We met the night of the Homecoming Banquet our freshman year during an intriguing game of Clue in the Student Center high atop the Athletic Center.

During our four years at Cedarville we have developed a bonding friendship, a source of strength and laughter that will remind us of Cedarville College for years to come.

E=Employment after

God has graciously supplied employment for me after graduation. During the summer, I will start my job as a foster care counselor for a social work agency in Philadelphia. Working with these broken children and their foster families is a challenge I have prepared for through my studies in psychology at Cedarville and one I am anxious to tackle.

As I reflect on my four years at the College, I'm thankful for the many gifts that I received and for my memories of "The 'Ville."

Doug Moore graduated from Cedarville on June 2 at Cedarville's 94th Commencement.

145 Students Aided by Alumni Scholarships

Established by Cedarville College alumni in 1978, the endowed alumni scholarship fund has provided financial assistance to a total of 145 students. During the Honors Day Chapel, a student from each of the 11 academic departments receives an alumni scholarship. The award is a tuition credit of $500, and the faculty of each department select their recipient. As the fund grows, the Alumni Association plans to increase the amount.

The John W. Bickett Heritage Alumni Scholarship also is awarded on Honors Day. Established in 1982, this award is given to students preparing for pastoral or missionary service and planning to further their education in seminary or language studies. Each of this year's recipients received a tuition credit of $1,500.

Congratulations to these young men and women!

Record Annual Fund Total

$112,000

(a record total)

Alumni giving to the Annual Fund for 1989-90 is approaching a record $112,000, a significant part of the $790,000 Annual Fund need for 1989-90. To date, $712,000 is committed to the Annual Fund, with the fiscal year ending June 30.

Over 1,500 alumni have participated in the Annual Fund this year.

Freshman softball pitcher Cindy Weibert earned a spot in the "Faces in the Crowd" column of Sports Illustrated's June 11 issue. A native of Sanger, California, Weibert claimed two no-hitters (one, a perfect game) in two days. She completed the regular season with a 13-0 record and a 0.35 ERA. She twice struck out 20 or more batters in a game, and averaged almost 17 strikeouts per outing. A two-time NAIA National Pitcher of the Week, Weibert was named the NAIA District 22 Player of the Year after leading the Yellow Jackets to a best-ever 29-3 regular season record.

Three Cedarville College professors completed doctoral studies in the spring. Professor of Political Science Joseph Halsey (left) received the Ph.D. from the University of Cincinnati; Assistant Professor of Bible Floyd Elmore (center), the Th.D. from Dallas Theological Seminary; and Assistant Professor of Music James Colman (right), the Ph.D. from Michigan State University.

Deaths

Lillian (Gilbert '25N) Beam, 83, died April 23, 1990. Lillian received a lifetime teaching certificate in 1931. Her teaching career spanned 40 years, 38 of which were spent at Central and East Schools in Osborn, OH. She was involved in many civic organizations and was named queen of Fairborn's Sweet Corn Festival in 1988.

Dr. Harry Stoneburner '44N died March 13, 1990. He was 67. Harry was a physician in the Spring Valley area for many years and team physician for Xenia City Schools from 1975 to 1983. He is survived by his wife, Connie, a daughter and a son.

Patsy King '57, age 55, died suddenly May 31, 1990. A missionary to the Central African Republic under Baptist Mid-Missions, she was on furlough in the States at the time of her death. Services were held June 5 in Youngstown, OH.

During Commencement weekend, members of the class of 1940 returned to campus for their 50th class reunion. Russell Roberts, 1940 class president, presented, on behalf of his class, a solid oak-framed globe of the world for the Centennial Library.

The Cedarville College recruitment video has received the Award of Excellence in the 1990 School and College Publications Contest which is sponsored by the National School Public Relations Association (NSPRA). David Ormsbee, assistant academic vice president and director of admissions, supervised the production of the video.

Items of Interest

Jonathan Engdahl: Rockwell Engineer of the Year

Jonathan Engdahl '77 was named a 1989 Rockwell International Engineer of the Year. This award was given to 16 of the more than 19,000 Rockwell engineers and scientists and represents the company's highest honor for technical achievement. Jon also is the first recipient of the Lynde Bradley Technology Award from the Allen-Bradley Company with which he has been associated since 1976. Allen-Bradley, a division of Rockwell, established this award to honor significant accomplishments of its engineers.

Brass Choir to Hungary

In June, the 18-member Brass Choir and director Charles Pagnard traveled to Hungary for a three-week ministry of concerts, sharing the Word of God, and personal testimonies. Andrea Gerstner '90, from Budapest, served as interpreter and guide. Professor Pagnard took his Brass Choir to Israel in 1987 and to Brazil in 1981 and 1982.

Ken Van Loon: Missionary Pastor and Air Force Chaplain

Ken Van Loon '75, missionary pastor under Baptist Mid-Missions, has brought the Anchor Point Baptist Church in Alaska to self-supporting status.

Ken is also Major Van Loon. The other side of his ministry is serving as Wing Chaplain for the Alaska Wing, Civil Air Patrol, U.S. Air Force. In 1987 he was named Chaplain of the Year and received the commander's commendation for faithful, dedicated service to his squadron as well as his wing.

Ken and Sandy Van Loon have two children, Becky and Jon.

Marlin Rayburn with the Lord

Marlin Rayburn, associate professor emeritus of communication arts, went to be with the Lord on March 17, 1990. A pastor and home missionary for 28 years, he taught for three years at Baptist Bible Seminary before coming to Cedarville in 1971 to teach in the Department of Communication Arts. He served as advisor of Miracle and coordinator for the Fundamentals of Speech courses.

Mr. Rayburn was a graduate of Philadelphia College of Bible and Wheaton College, and held the master of arts degree from Wayne State University. His wife, Ethel, daughter Marilyn Twigg '79, and one grandchild survive him.

Dr. Jim Phipps '68, Chair of the Department of Communication Arts, said, "Mr. Rayburn served the Lord and Cedarville College faithfully for 17 years. He was known for his gracious manner and his wise counsel. A skilled carpenter as well, he was responsible for many building projects within Cedarville. His consistent life influenced many during his time here."

To God be the glory!

Steve Green Shares Love for the Lord

Steve Green sings to sellout crowds wherever he goes, and Cedarville College is no exception. On May 16, he made his third concert appearance on campus.

However, when Steve comes to Cedarville, he also has the opportunity to preach a message, something that is very dear to his heart. On the morning following his concert, Steve sang and preached the dedication message for the MIS teams, an assignment he undertook on his previous visit in 1988.

The son of missionaries to South America, Steve began his professional singing career with "Truth" and "The New Gaither Vocal Band." Since going solo, he has recorded seven albums, including He Holds the Keys, For God and God Alone, Find Us Faithful, and his latest, The Mission. He has toured extensively in the United States and has taken his message in song to Venezuela, Ecuador, and Argentina. He and his wife and singing partner, Marijean, have two children, Summer and Josiah.

"PG" Receives Honorary Doctorate

Grand Rapids Baptist Seminary conferred the Doctor of Divinity degree on Harold Green, vice president for Christian Ministries, during the seminary's graduation exercises on May 12. Green gave the commencement address.

A graduate of Baptist Bible Seminary in Clarks Summit, Pennsylvania, he pastored a church in Falls, Pennsylvania, and planted churches in Gary, Indiana, and Greenville, Ohio, before coming to Cedarville in 1970 to become the first campus pastor and director of Christian service. In 1979 he was named to his present position.

"PG" and his wife, Margaret, have four children: Janet Tate '75, Kathy Boettger '78, Dann '80, and Larry '82.

Dave '81 and Carol Sue (Cox '82) Merkh have been serving as missionaries in Sao Paulo, Brazil, since June 1987. Their work with Word of Life Seminary allows opportunity to work with teens, preach in local churches, and contract infectious hepatitis?! Pray for Dave as he recuperates.

Harold Rodin, a 1963 psychology major, is one of only 200 document experts in the nation. Although there are many glamorous cases in the field of signature verification and authenticity, Rodin states that the majority of his clients are seeking to have wills, deeds, and contracts verified. However, in the Don King-Butch Lewis boxing promoters' contract cover-up, Rodin proved that the contract of heavyweight fighter Greg Page had been tampered with by analyzing the staple holes.

Focus on the Field

Irene Benson '63 returned to her work with the Waiwai people in Brazil on March 28. Norman Barnard '67 was appointed Regional Director of the Southeast Asia Extension Program effective June 1, 1990. The Asian headquarters is currently in Manila, but application has been made to move it to Singapore. Chuck '67 and Beverly Truxton returned from Nigeria in June for a six-month furlough. They were accompanied by their children, Jenny, Martha, and Ryan. The Truxtons work with Sudan Interior Mission. A commissioning service for Kirk '84 and Joyce (Pycraft '85) Wesselink was held at Abbey Road Baptist Church in Elyria, OH. The Wesselinks are now missionaries to Albuquerque, NM, for Baptist Mission of North America.

The Children of Alumni Scholar Program combines education and fun for teens of alums during Session I of Summer School in June. These scholars earn five quarter hours of college credit tuition free, meet other Christian teens, and enjoy many activities including a day at Kings Island.

Cedarville College awards 734 government guaranteed loans per year to students. According to David Gidley, financial aid director, Cedarville's default rate is .08%, while the national default rate stands at 15.6%.

Vini Jaquery: Ministering to Abandoned Children

Jim Steere/Courtesy Trinity Evangelical Divinity School

God has given Vini Jaquery '82 the ministry of rescuing abandoned Brazilian children through International Reach, Inc. (IR), an organization which he founded and serves as executive director.

The directors and advisors of International Reach are U.S. and Brazilian Christians. The goals of the organization are "to address immediate needs of abandoned Brazilian street children and to lead the entire Brazilian society toward making righteous decisions concerning these children." IR has the blessing and cooperation of the Brazilian government.

IR is the fund raising and support group for an enterprise called Home for the Little Children. IR also secures legal adoption of street children by private couples, assists a rehabilitation center, and provides support for a Christian hospital.

In the country of Brazil, 39 million youngsters (roughly one-fourth of the population) are left to raise themselves in the streets by parents who have died, abandoned them, or neglected their care.

Home for the Little Children (HLC) helps create new Christian Brazilian families: a mother, father, and up to 15 legally adopted street children. HLC funds and constructs new homes, the first six of which will be in Atibaia, a village about 60 miles from Sao Paulo. HLC locates young, energetic Christian couples who will commit at least 10 years to the project as parents. HLC also finds the children who wish to be part of a family, arranges for their legal adoption, then helps the family get started and provides ongoing assistance, including help with spiritual needs of the children. More than 25 children have been placed in the three existing homes. Vini and his co-workers are trusting the Lord for the next three homes by the end of 1990.

The Rehabilitation Center in Ribeirao Preto helps hundreds of abandoned children who have chemical addictions, criminal records, and diseases. The children receive health, emotional, and spiritual care.

IR also provides support to Curitiba Hospital, a Christian hospital which serves many disadvantaged communities.

Christian ministry is not a new experience for Vini. He grew up in a Christian home in Sao Paulo, and, as a teenager, he preached in churches, at conferences, on radio, and even on the streets. He also organized rallies and retreats for high school youth. After receiving his B.A. in psychology at Cedarville, Vini went on to graduate from Trinity Divinity School in Deerfield, Illinois, in 1986. It was while he was home for the summer between his years at seminary that God burdened his heart for the work with the street children.

Vini presently works full time in a large Brazilian bank, but he devotes much time to raising funds for International Reach projects.

On February 5, 1990, Vini married Alexandra Soares, who will graduate from dental school in June of 1990.

Should you desire more information about Vini and his ministry, please contact David Ormsbee, director of admissions at Cedarville College. Dave is on the board of directors for International Reach.

Brake Leads Institute of Holy Land Studies

Dr. Donald L. Brake '66 is the new president of the Institute of Holy Land Studies in Jerusalem. The Institute, located on Mt. Zion, offers one- and two-year programs for undergraduate and masters students. In recent years, a number of Cedarville students have studied at the Institute. Dr. Robert Gromacki, professor of Bible and Greek and chairman of Cedarville's Department of Biblical Education, serves on the Institute's associate board. A group of ten Cedarville professors attended special studies there from February 24 to March 4, 1990.

Dr. Brake most recently served at Multnomah School of the Bible in Portland, Oregon, as vice president and dean of the graduate school.

A native of Illinois, he and his wife, Carol, were saved through the witness of her employer. Don went to Moody Bible Institute for two years, graduated from Cedarville in 1966 in the pre-seminary program, and completed the Th.M. at Dallas Theological Seminary in 1970.

The Brakes went to Ethiopia as missionaries with Sudan Interior Mission (S.I.M.). Don was teacher and director of Soddo Bible Schools and dean of Grace Bible Institute in Jimma. As pressure from the new Marxist government increased, they left the country in 1977.

Don earned his Th.D. at Dallas and began his ministry at Multnomah as professor and administrator. He served as a visiting lecturer at the Institute of Holy Land Studies and was appointed president there in February of 1990.

Of the Institute he says, "Where else can one walk out the front door and stand on the walls of historical Jerusalem?"

Don and Carol Brake have three grown children. Michael teaches high school in Paris, France; Deborah is a missionary in Niger, Africa, and Donnie lives in Beaverton, Oregon.

Scott Hannay: Snowshoeing to Victory

Scott Hannay '86, from Westerlo, New York, finds pleasure in working at his family's company, Hannay Reels. However, the biggest challenge he has faced since graduating from Cedarville College hasn't necessarily been breaking into the business world.

Scott managed to win gold, silver, and bronze medals from the United States Snowshoe Association at the Empire State Winter Games in 1989. His world record of 15.06 seconds for the 100 meter race and his part in the Nordic Snowshoe relay team, which also set a world record, inspires Scott during the long months of training and discipline. Scott also claims that just being a part of the national United States Snowshoe Team is an honor.

During these hot months, Scott is already dreaming of the 1990 Empire State Winter games.

Cedarville's student-operated radio station WSRN debuted in early April. With Dr. Dixon, Jim Leightenheimer ('80), Mark Castellani ('80) and many other Cedarville staff and broadcasting students on hand, the station began broadcasting with prayer and Ephesians 4:29, which WSRN has adopted as its verse. The station is located in the basement of Collins Hall, and its transmission to the Cedarville dorms and main buildings on campus can be tuned in from 6 a.m. to 9 a.m. and from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Leightenheimer, the station's faculty advisor, promises Cedarville's broadcasting majors practical experience which will apply to operating a commercial Christian station.

During the annual Barney's Week, April 23-27, over 300 Cedarville College students did household jobs for senior citizens; planted seedlings at a landfill; helped prepare a nearby state park and a local Boy Scout camp for summer activities; raised money for a Crisis Pregnancy Center and a widow's family; spring cleaned local and area parks, creeks, and roadsides; and hosted area business people at a cookout on campus. The week is named for Barnabus, who was noted for his service and encouragement to others.

Ruth Farenó: A Heart for Missions

As Ruth Farenó '83 packs her lunch for another day at the Institute of Islamic Studies in Philadelphia, she is reminded of packing experiences of other summers. Ruth has packed duffles for Australia, suitcases for Brazil, and trunks for Africa. Traveling abroad during the summers to take part in missionary endeavors is a cherished part of her life.

Since her position as an elementary public school teacher in Hatboro, PA, affords her summers off, Ruth uses her time, talents, and finances to experience missions around the world. This summer, however, Ruth is studying in preparation for future trips abroad. Her desire to learn how to combat fallacies in other religions with scriptural truth is the primary purpose for remaining in the United States.

Ruth began her missionary travels with Cedarville College's MIS program after graduating in June 1983. "This missionary internship taught me to work with many personalities in high pressure situations," Ruth reflected. "On my first cross-cultural trip, I must admit that I enjoyed every minute of travel and ministry. Singing in shopping malls and hosting children's Bible clubs were the biggest and best part of the internship."

The summer of 1988 opened the door for Ruth to travel to Sao Paulo, Brazil, to share in the Merkh's ministry at the Word of Life Camps. Ruth immersed herself in ministry to David ('80) and Carol Sue (Cox '81) Merkh, their children (with their third child on the way, Carol Sue was thankful for the extra hands!), teaching Brazilian women, and planning activities for the youth group. Ruth is often reminded of the many friends she made during the summer of 1988 through letters and occasional visits to the United States by her Brazilian companions.

Ruth would freely admit that her trip to Liberia, Africa, during August 1989 was the most challenging and eye-opening. She encountered new foods, language, diseases, team dynamics and schedules. But she returned from her trip confident that she could adjust to the African culture both in the cities and bush country.

The one personal trial that Ruth had to conquer was crossing a long, narrow footbridge over several swamps to get to villagers who needed to hear the gospel. She remembered all her childhood fears of falling off the balance beam in gym class; that's how narrow the bridge was! This one-mile trial which required her to tote backpacks loaded with Bibles, projectors, screens, and a gospel film, was a challenge Ruth conquered, and she rejoiced that only four trips were necessary.

The joys and concerns of her trip to Africa are still fresh in her mind as she prays daily for the missionaries being persecuted in Liberia. One family which housed the team has fled their home and is searching for a safe passage to the United States.

Ruth's heart for missions and love for the Scripture began at Cedarville College, and she seeks to develop that love and burden for others as she follows her Savior daily.

Engineering Plans on Schedule

Pending final approval by The Ohio Board of Regents, Cedarville College will launch a B.S.E. (Bachelor of Science in Engineering) program in the fall of 1990. Offering majors in electrical and mechanical engineering, the program is designed to accommodate 50 students in the freshman class. The department chair will be announced later this summer.

CAD CAM, Inc., of Dayton, donated a CAD (computer aided design) lab, valued at $90,000, for the program. Presently housed in the Science Center, the lab will be moved to the proposed 61,455 square feet engineering building, which is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1992. The building also will house the Department of Nursing as well as provide additional facilities for the Department of Science and Mathematics.

AWARDS

Tim Heaton

Mark Brown

With a long list of accomplishments and activities to his credit and a multitude of students who have been influenced by his instruction and personal interest, Tim Heaton, assistant professor of education, was selected Faculty Member of the Year 1990.

Among the many tributes that have been paid to Mark Brown, former director of safety and security, is that of receiving posthumously the award for Staff Member of the Year 1990. Mr. and Mrs. Ira Brown, Mark's parents, accepted the citation in his memory.

From the Heart

From Classroom to Staff Room

by Jane Adams
Director of Alumni Relations

Six years have passed since I walked slowly up the aisle to "Pomp and Circumstance." As my classmates and I anticipated joy in receiving that much sought after diploma, we also anticipated the future. Where we would go and what we would do were the biggest questions we had to face since Dr. Gromacki's New Testament final.

For me that decision was easy—so I thought. I was graduating with a psychology/behavioral science major, and my goal for the future was... GET A JOB! I would have a job where I would use my counseling skills while I went back to school for a master's degree. Then I would start a little private practice with Carl Ruby, Deatra Huffman, and Mark Riley. (We had managed to make it through History and Systems of Psychology utilizing each other's talents in note-taking.) I was confident of my skills and excited when I landed the celebrated "first job" before graduation.

Bethanna employed me in a position which made use of my listening ear, gentle voice, sharp tongue, quick reflexes, strong arms, houseworked hands, and aching back to care for abused and neglected children in a residential treatment setting.

Working in direct child care afforded me many opportunities, from "family" vacations with the boys to being beat up by the girls. After two years of direct child care it was time for a change, and I gladly accepted the responsibilities of coordinating the volunteer programs for Bethanna. Planning activities and promoting public relations with the surrounding Southampton, Pennsylvania, community was my niche. I loved developing volunteer groups, and I found myself praising Dr. Phipps for Speech 101! I slimmed down, worked hard, and grew up.

Seemingly settled in my employment and community, why did I continue to question what was next in my life? I sent resumes to two prospective employers. One response from a local Philadelphia hospital was a resounding NO! Then there was my resume to Cedarville.

I sent it with the thought that it would probably be lost in the mail. During a telephone interview when I was asked to send references, I thought, "That can't hurt...or can it?"

During my two-day, on-campus interview I was impressed with the progress of my alma mater and was nearly positive that I would not be making any changes in my life. I was content to go back to Philadelphia and further develop my trusty position at Bethanna. One month and one week later, when

Dr. Martin Clark offered me the position of Director of Alumni Relations, I was speechless (and that could hinge on a miracle!).

The "yes" decision moved me back to Cedarville and into the office where "the boys (excuse me, men) of lower Williams" used to live. These young collegiate men would put the contents of their room in the parking lot and park the motorcycle inside, all the while befriending Dean Walker.

I have investigated the music and dress policies, taken advantage of the sales in the bookstore, and gotten lost in the library. I have also set priorities among my responsibilities—priorities that include listening, providing opportunities for alumni to be involved with Cedarville College and her students, and communicating progress to the alumni body.

I would encourage you, Cedarville College alumni, to use your council representatives to convey your ideas for events, glean college information, and voice requests.

Most of all, keep in touch! The staff and faculty want to hear from you. Visit campus yourself and take a trip down memory lane. Whether that trip be long or short, it will be well worth it!
